

GENERAL REGISTRATION

COVID-19 has spread rapidly to all corners of the world and claimed more than 230,000 lives. As the pandemic continues, oral health professionals worldwide have responded courageously, while facing many obstacles of a disease previously unknown. A group of leading experts on the frontlines providing vital dental care and conducting oral health research will provide their insights and discuss challenges on dental care and oral health under COVID-19, and present opportunities for research during this evolving pandemic. This international forum will address the following issues:

1. Impact of COVID-19 pandemic on dental care and oral health
2. Protection of dental care providers and patients during the pandemic and beyond
3. Opportunities in oral health research related to COVID-19
